Hi Jeff and Kacee

See below. As you well know, OW has the green light to finally move this forward. They want us to be well coordinated with OEA AND they want us to move slowly to make sure we have a thoughtful roll out plan. I don't think that means you can't start talking to the SAB, Just that nothing should go public until we have a thoughtful rollout plan.

We'll need the high level desk statement, high level messages, Q/As. OW will likely have the best list of stakeholders and thoughts about how they might like to reach out.

I'll touch base with Travis this afternoon to sort out who is doing what.

This is exciting!

This is huge for us - clearance to get connectivity study out. Can we go a little slow to make sure we have a good roll out plan? This will immediately get the Waters of US discussion going among stakeholders, congress, etc.
